

Make a tax deductible contribution UCGIS

As 2006 draws to a close, the UCGIS officers and board urge everyone in the broader GIS community to consider making a tax deductible contribution to support the annual Graduate Student Paper Competition. Students whose papers are accepted for presentation at the UCGIS Summer Assembly receive $800 awards to help make it possible for them to participate. Deductible contributions help make this program possible.

As a tax exempt nonprofit organization, UCGIS can receive contributions that are deductible from income by taxpayers who itemize on their tax forms. For all contributions, a receipt will be issued, stating that nothing of value was received in return for the contribution, and documenting that UCGIS has been classified by the IRS as a Section 501(c)(3) organization. Such organizations may receive deductible contributions.

Last summer eighteen students received awards and made oral presentations at the Summer Assembly. As this tax year draws to a close, please consider supporting this important recognition program that promotes our profession and encourages our top students.
